

Tuesday, August 19, 2014 (7:30 PM)

1. The first part of the document is a letter from the author to the editor, dated 10/10/10. The letter discusses the author's interest in the journal and the specific topic they wish to explore. The author mentions their previous work in the field and expresses their confidence in the quality of their research.

2. The second part of the document is a letter from the editor to the author, dated 11/10/10. The editor acknowledges the author's interest and expresses their willingness to consider the manuscript. The editor also provides some initial feedback on the author's proposal.

3. The third part of the document is a letter from the author to the editor, dated 12/10/10. The author responds to the editor's feedback and provides a revised proposal. The author explains how they have addressed the editor's concerns and how they have strengthened their research.

4. The fourth part of the document is a letter from the editor to the author, dated 1/11/11. The editor provides a final decision on the manuscript. The editor expresses their interest in the author's work and offers to publish the manuscript in the journal.

5. The fifth part of the document is a letter from the author to the editor, dated 2/11/11. The author expresses their gratitude to the editor for their interest and support. The author also provides some information about their current work and future plans.

6. The sixth part of the document is a letter from the editor to the author, dated 3/11/11. The editor provides some final comments on the manuscript and offers to publish the manuscript in the journal. The editor also provides some information about the journal's policies and procedures.

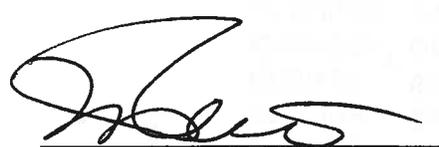

7. The seventh part of the document is a letter from the author to the editor, dated 4/11/11. The author expresses their gratitude to the editor for their interest and support. The author also provides some information about their current work and future plans.

8. The eighth part of the document is a letter from the editor to the author, dated 5/11/11. The editor provides some final comments on the manuscript and offers to publish the manuscript in the journal. The editor also provides some information about the journal's policies and procedures.

9. The ninth part of the document is a letter from the author to the editor, dated 6/11/11. The author expresses their gratitude to the editor for their interest and support. The author also provides some information about their current work and future plans.

10. The tenth part of the document is a letter from the editor to the author, dated 7/11/11. The editor provides some final comments on the manuscript and offers to publish the manuscript in the journal. The editor also provides some information about the journal's policies and procedures.

Marilyn Plett, Chair of the Board